Any Applicants?

Only one thing about the outcome of the hearings on a new labor-management law is certain. Whatever law replaces it—if one does finally replace it—will not be known as the Taft-Hartley act. The Republicans will be taken off the spot.

Neither will the new law—if there is one—be known as the Wagner act. The New York senator has had his day in the sun. Nor will it be known as the Truman-Tobin act, because the proposal that Mr. Truman and his secretary of labor sent to congress won't be recognizable when congressmen are through with it. They are through with it now, as a matter of fact. The hearings on their proposal have turned into hearings on the Taft-Hartley act instead.

The replacement might be known as the Lewis-Murray-Green-Reuther-Bridges-Beck act, but it's unlikely those gentlemen would want to be put on the spot. That leaves the field wide open. Anyone want to have his name tacked on to the most controversial legislation the 81st congress is likely to pass during its lifetime?

Who Are The Bargainers?

Michael J. Quill, who earned the nickname of "Red Mike" by his loyalty to the Communist line in New York City labor politics, apparently deserves personal credit for ending the Philadelphia transit strike.

His plea to the strikers to accept what he described as the best settlement they could expect overrode the plea of the Philadelphia union's own leadership to prolong the strike. Quill, whose conversion from a party-line suspect to a policy of moderation has been widely hailed, apparently intends to use his position as president of the Transportation Workers union, to overrule local extremists. If the conversion sticks, it will be nationally significant.

There has been wholesale evidence that the rank and file of unionists even in left-wing unions were grossly misrepresented in many instances by their leadership. The only remedy was to isolate the authority of out-of-line leaders by simultaneous pressure from the national officers of unions and the moderates in the membership. There was no other way to achieve union discipline. Otherwise, employers trying to carry on bargaining would continue to be at the mercy of the immoderates, with no recourse to either the rank and file or to higher authority.

President Quill has served notice directly on the left-wingers in the transportation workers union that they no longer have exclusive rights as bargainers. They are subject to a higher discipline in showdowns.

Compulsionists

In the fumbling search for words to describe the issues of the day, those who oppose a society too heavy with government should dwell long and hard on the idea of compulsion.

The American revolution was fought to free the colonies of compulsion. World war II were fought to block the worldwide compulsion of Prussianism. World war III, if it comes, will be fought to block the compulsion of one-party dictatorship under a Communist hierarchy.

In the United States, the fundamental issue in politics for nearly 30 years has been the growing compulsion of federal government vs the traditional credo of Americanism—that free people should not be expected to tolerate an excess of political authority.

There is nothing "liberal" about the authoritarians, they seek only what has been sought in every generation in history—more power for the state, less power for the people.

No Concessions To Murray

The logic of Philip Murray's argument that the Taft-Hartley act is bad because Senator Taft has admitted it isn't perfect is a little hard to follow. But it's worth the trouble to try. It tells a good deal about Mr. Murray's state of mind.

Certainly Senator Taft had admitted the law isn't perfect. He has pointed out various things in it that need revision—some because they were imperfect when the law was passed, others because experience has shown where flaws exist.

Congress expected to revise the law. It set up a special commission for that very purpose. The commission's job was to make a continuing study of the legislation as it went into effect and recommend changes. There never was any question about the need for refining the Taft-Hartley act. It was recognized by everybody except the union bosses that no labor-management law could be adopted which would be beyond improvement.

Yet the union bosses claim the Wagner act was and still is perfect. They refused to cooperate with congress in the preparation of a better law. They now want to go back lock, stock and barrel to a law whose imperfections were so glaringly obvious to everybody but themselves that even the Truman administration has gaged on their proposition. What do these men eat that makes them so sure that they are of all citizens of the United States no longer want to make concessions to anyone—and that Senator Taft who is willing to make certain concessions in the light of experience is the best taken admitting defeat? How do they think legislation should be developed in the United States—by edict? Or second thought, they'd better not answer that question.

Chinese Heartbreakers

Reports of Chinese Communists who had deserted to the Communist army or had been captured by it during the Japanese suggest that heartbreakers for it would be a Chinese characteristic. The strategy of Communism has been based for centuries on the use of the sword and the dagger, but the word that captures the heart is quickly changed to be attractive once the sword has been set.

Ideologies are visionary theorizing. China's millions have little due for theories; their margin of survival is too narrow. They want results. Unless the Communists can produce results, they will be resisted as bitterly as any other regime.

Chiang Kai-Shek rose to power by promising results. It has been forgotten in recent years, but he won his power as a protégé of the Communists. His original Kuomintang party was backed by the Kremlin. But as Stalin had been forced to do in Russia, Chiang tried to adapt himself to realities. He tried and failed on that basis. Ideology had nothing to do with it. The new regime of Chinese revolutionists have the same problem. They must produce results or lose power. The Chinese cannot live on Marxism, and it is unlikely they will tolerate dictatorship.

AN adverse and pernicious planetary aspect urges the wisdom of alert attention to sinister or calculating attempts to undermine stable, ambitious and flourishing operations already well on the way to lasting benefits, growth and solidity.

Possibly a confused or fang'd mental attitude, a burst of curious feelings, or the irresistible intervention of subtle or tricky proposals, while intriguing and thrilling, might prove disastrous.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are warned against the possibility of duplicity, enares, schemes, or alluring propositions, which are liable to undermine sound performances or worthwhile ideas already well on the way to security. Secrecy, intrigue, or false reasoning may divert from safe channels, in which confusion and doubt are likely to play havoc with feelings, conduct and profits. Shun strange personages with captivating propositions.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY WALTER KERNAN

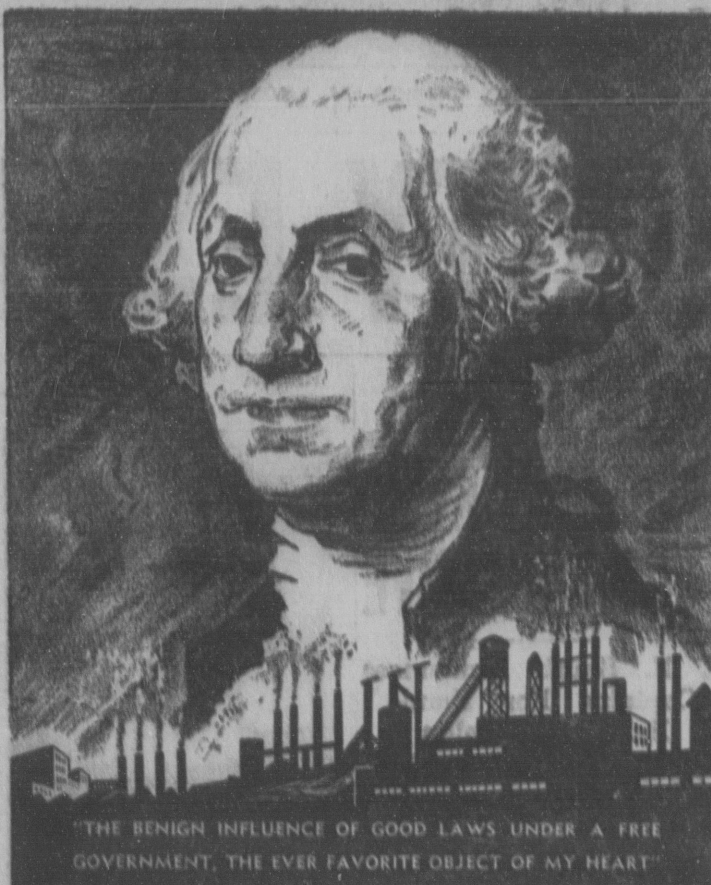

People are spreading butter on their bread again and far pieces are so low, minks have started speaking to rabbits but if this is what we wanted why are we so uneasy since we got it?

The President figures the drop in employment is just temporary. He had no trouble finding a job for Men Weighers, former governor of Washington.

But Weighers is to be commended for hustling work so quickly. He listened to the election returns with his hat on and immediately sent wires to his successor and Truman.

One read "you have my support" and the other one read "Who's going to support me?"

And if there are any other unemployed persons who can find about 36 holes to 36 and play championship pool they should so state in their applications to the White House.

"THE BENIGN INFLUENCE OF GOOD LAWS UNDER A FREE GOVERNMENT, THE EVER FAVORITE OBJECT OF MY HEART"

"Loyalty to the right, service to a cause, allegiance to the ideal of good laws under a free government"

"These great actors who played in it have passed away, but the same drama still holds the stage. The drop-curtain falls between the acts, the scenery shifts; the music alters, but the crisis and its issues are unchanged, and the parts which you and I play are assigned to us by our own choice of 'The ever favorite object of our hearts.'"

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Infection In Outer Ear Canal

By HERMAN N. RUNDEN, M. D.
Recently a survey was made to find out just what conditions brought people most often to their doctor's office and it was interesting to note that infection and inflammation in the outer ear canal was one of the common conditions.

Frequently, the difficulty is due to infection with germs, as well as with a fungus or mold, like ringworm. Therefore, in treating this condition, steps must be taken to eliminate both the germs and the fungi.

One of the first things the doctor does in treating this condition consists in keeping the ear canal clean. The only way to do this is by washing it, using a large, metal ear syringe. After washing the canal must be thoroughly dried. Of course this cleansing process must be carried out by the physician; it sometimes takes as long as 20 minutes to do the job thoroughly.

Piece of Cotton
When there is only a moderate amount of inflammation and a small amount of swelling in the canal, the doctor places a piece of cotton covered with sulphathiazole ointment in the ear canal. The cotton is replaced after 24 hours. The cotton should fill the ear canal without causing any painful pressure.

If there is a severe deal of swelling of the ear canal and there are pimples present, X-ray treatment may be advisable.

If the lymph glands near the ear are enlarged as a result of the infection, it may be advisable to give sulphathiazole by mouth.

When the infection with germs has been overcome, treatment for the underlying fungus infection may be started. Again thorough washing is advisable. Following this, ear drops containing bichloride of mercury are often used. The ear drops may be put in by the patients themselves, morning and evening.

Washing Ear Canal

For the first two or three days, washing of the ear canal is necessary; then it may be done at three-day intervals; then at five-day intervals, and finally at weekly visits. It is suggested that the ear drops be used twice a week for a month after the condition is apparently cleared up.

Veterans Total Payment Is High

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(AP)—Ohio veterans and their dependents collected $306,716,731 from the Veterans Administration in the year ended last June 30.

The total for education, compensation and pension benefits was the sixth largest of total U. S. benefits of $6,495,232,236, a Veterans Administration report said.

VA figures showed $101,790,536 in compensation or pension benefits in Ohio, including retirement pay, going to 167,734 veterans or their dependents.

Of that total, 138,663 were living veterans. They drew down $83,613,388. Remaining beneficiaries were dependents of 29,071 dead veterans. The 104,311 living veterans of World War II in Ohio received $7,619,127 for the 1947-48 year.

There were 124,710 Ohio veterans taking training under the GI Bill of Rights as of last June 30, VA said.

VA also handed out $17,711,350 to Ohio for the care of unemployed veterans.

SAY TWO CHURCH LEADERS CONFESSED

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 22—(AP)—The Communist-dominated press has published purported confessions of two of 15 Protestant church leaders going on trial Friday on charges of treason, espionage and illegal money dealings.

The confessions were attributed to Vassil Ziapkov, religious representative of the Supreme Council of the Evangelical churches in Bulgaria and head of Congregational churches in the country, and Yanko Ivanov, supervisor of Methodist churches.

Both, according to the published reports, admitted working with American and British espionage groups in Bulgaria.

Ziapkov and Ivanov and the other Protestant leaders were announced to be under arrest shortly after Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate, was sentenced by a Communist-dominated Hungarian court on similar charges. All have been held incommunicado since.

One hundred and fifty-five clergymen of the Church of England are 80 or more years old.

Mount Union Students Again To Sprout Beards

ALLIANCE, Feb. 22—Mount Union college's annual beard-growing contest is now under way and will last over a three-week period. Like last year, invitations to compete are being extended to campus co-eds but, also like last year, few if any entries are expected from the fair sex.

Prizes will be given for the longest, the widest and thickest, and the most original beard, with the contest to close at the "Stubble Stomp," a dance to climax the affair. Dr. Eric Eckler, head of the English department and himself a beard-wearer, and Mrs. Eckler will act as judges.

The contest is sponsored by the Dynamo, undergraduate newspaper.

Lions Auxiliary Party Enjoyed

The table was trimmed with red candles in keeping with Washington's birthday when members of the Lions auxiliary held a delightful dinner meeting Monday evening at the Lape hotel. Novelty candy favors and miniature red hatchets marked the places.

Capt. and Mrs. John Hansen showed a movie depicting Salvation Army activities and they also conducted a question and answer period relating to the Army work, which was very interesting.

Plans were discussed for a benefit and a gift was made to Salem chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Gregory Stowell and Mrs. Russell Jennings were hostesses.

Mrs. Dana Fioding, Mrs. Louis Matvev and Mrs. Floyd Craig will be hostesses for the March 21 meeting.

Dawna Mae Silver Party Honoree

Dawna Mae Silver of E. Third st. was feted at lovely parties Saturday afternoon and Sunday to make happy her fifth birthday anniversary.

The first one was given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Silver at their home.

Games were played. Prizes were awarded Pam Masuca and Carolyn Gordon.

An arrangement of yellow daisies centered the lunch table, which was charmingly decorated in a yellow and green theme. Individual birthday cakes were iced with yellow and ornamented with green candles.

The novelty flower favors were filled with candy. Each guest also received a miniature telephone.

Places were arranged for the honor guests, Carolyn Titzel, Brenda Smith, Darby Harris, Sara Fitch, Dorette Snyder, Pam Masuca and Carolyn Gordon.

The Sunday family party was given by Mrs. Walter Lusted of Canfield, Dawna Mae's grandmother.

A pink and white theme was used effectively on the table. A decorated birthday cake in the center was flanked with white candles in crystal, tied with pink bows.

She received gifts at both parties.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

"I WISH my mother didn't have that old job," said a second-grader who goes from school to his grandparents' home to stay until 6 o'clock when he is picked up by his working parents.

There must be lots of school age children who have the same heart-felt wish, a wish that their mothers were on the main job full time. And yet there are many mothers of school children who don't actually have to work, but who think they have a right to, so long as they make adequate provision for their children.

They've been told over and over they have the right—that once a woman's children reach school age she is free to do as she pleases.

But if the children in such families were given a hearing, the mothers might get a different slant on whether or not they have a right to work outside the home.

The right society has bestowed on mothers to work outside the home so long as they can have their children cared for may not be a right the children themselves would grant if they had their way.

But most of them don't have any say-so in the matter.

If they had a vote there are probably few children who would vote to have their mothers away when they get home from school.

Class Has Meeting

When members of the Gleaners class of Holy Trinity Lutheran church, taught by Mrs. Thomas Crothers, met Monday evening at the home of Judy Gregg, W. Fifth st., they voted to give $15 to China missions.

Tentative plans were made for an amateur show to be held at the church.

Judy and her mother, Mrs. James Gregg, served lunch.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

At Salem Junior High school under the guidance of Mrs. Lulu McCarthy, girls learn the fundamentals of the needle and thread and sewing machine art.

The students start with simple basting and from there progress to the second semester task of making wearing apparel.

Dressing of dolls for the Red Cross also is a project of the beginners, while the making of nightgowns and pajamas occupies the more advanced students.

Of big help in the classes is the addition of two new electric sewing machines to contrast with the outmoded models that have been used. Fifteen girls have been added to the schedule, making more than 80 in the classes.

PARITY FACES HARD TEST

In Farm and Factory, New Fluctuations Are To Bring Blows

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Parity, a way of cushioning the jolts on the economic road, is up for a test in both the factory and the farm. It's more popular when things are on the up-grade. We'll see shortly how it works when the road gets bumpy. Sometime next week, General Motors workers will know how much their pay is due to be cut because the farmers are getting less cash for their grain and livestock.

The autoworkers have a plan for keeping wages on a parity with the cost of living. This sent their paychecks up last year. Now it appears they're due for a cut of two or three cents an hour, because the Bureau of Labor statistics cost-of-living index is dropping. Their pay scale is tied directly to it.

At least one local of the autoworkers union in Cleveland has protested already against the anticipated cut, citing GM profits as high enough to justify maintaining present wage scales, no matter if the worker's cost of eating is less.

Live Above Parity

Farmers also have a plan for keeping their way of life on a parity with their neighbors in the city. For several years they've been living above parity, have had no need for it and considered parity as merely a comforting form of insurance. Bumper crops sent prices down around parity last fall. And now, if they have grain to sell on the spot market they are likely to get less than the government support price.

When farmers take their shrunken income into the stores to buy machinery or other things they need, they probably will have to shell out more money for the goods than they did when farm prices were high. The next month should give a pretty good indication how much this double pinching of the farmer—less income, more expense—is going to affect sales in the farm belt.

The farmers have the warning of the secretary of agriculture that the day of reckoning would be much closer and tougher if Marshall plan dollars weren't taking large quantities of surplus grain to shovel into Europe's hungry maw. Other millions of bushels have gone under government support loans. Congress was told yesterday that loans this year will reach $2.2 billion.

Unless weather conditions this summer make for a short crop, keeping the farmer on a parity with others in the economy is going to be a costly proposition.

Has Better Cushion

But the farmer, at least, has a better cushion in parity than do most classes in the jolty business of getting the economy back into balance. And total farm incomes last year were far above prewar levels.

It's going to be hard to end the inflation spiral without hurting a great many people in varying degrees. But, unless the farm parity system breaks down entirely from its own weight, the farmer will have fewer bruises and contusions than will the factory worker, say. Parity is a softer cushion than unemployment insurance. And government buying for export is expected to stay high for some time.

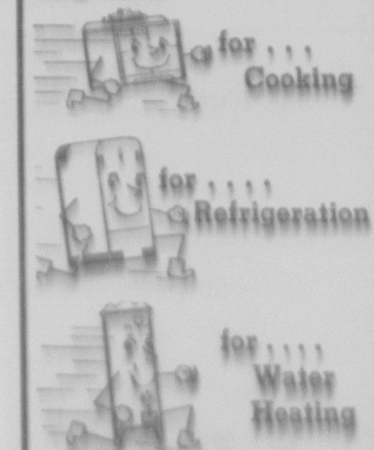

Balance is a state beloved of bank clerks, economists and tightwired walkers. Economists rarely agree as to what constitutes balance in our economy, and even more rarely as to when we have it. The tight-wire economy walks in the next few months may get pretty exciting especially if someone should slacken the wire too fast.

Bride Killed In Crash

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 22—Funeral service will be held Wednesday in Crocker, Mo., for Mrs. Eula Robertson Hissom, 21, an East Liverpool man's bride of two months, who was killed in an automobile accident over the weekend near Rolla, Mo. Her husband, Robert C. Hissom, was unhurt.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, (A)—"Burp... disinflation... delicate transition period... inflationary prosperity."

Just keep them in mind a minute. An economist is a man who's paid to have opinions. So he's never short of words, and he can think up a new one when he has to.

Still, when an economist says something you can't be sure he's right, because economics isn't a science.

And some of the best economists were never more wrong than after the 1929 market crash, when the bottom began dropping out of the American dinner pail and they couldn't see the depression was a depression.

Right now some prices, particularly farm prices, have been falling. And living costs have dropped a bit. This shouldn't have been surprising unless you expected prices either to keep rising till they blew the lid off or just stand frozen still, which prices never do.

In fact, living costs have only dropped two per cent below last August, when they were at an all time high. And they're still 26 per cent higher than they were in 1948, just before congress killed OPA controls. And they're still 74 per cent higher than they were in 1938.

BUT NOW THAT they've dropped a bit, everybody seems astonished and is asking: What does it mean?

Of course, it could mean the start of a depression, or just a little drop before another climb, or just a natural drop because prices were too high anyway.

Oh, said A. D. H. Kaplan, it's just an economic "burp, not a belly-ache." He's an economist for the Brookings Institution, a private research agency.

"Burp" was a brand new word in economics. But Dr. Edwin G. Nourse went Kaplan one better. Nourse, who's top economic advisor to President Truman, said that the U. S. right now is going through a period of "healthy disinflation."

"Disinflation," he said, is quite different from "deflation." He said "disinflation" takes the pressure off prices while "deflation" could mean a collapse of the whole price set-up. Just the day before, Truman got into the economics act himself by telling a news conference the present slump in some prices is only the leveling-off process everyone's been wishing for.

The business situation, he said, is nothing to be alarmed about. Yesterday Ralph Roby, chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers, also looked over the situation. He said: "I strongly distrust long-term business prognostications. The record clearly shows we're in a period of inflationary prosperity."

I'm sorry I can't explain here what "inflationary prosperity" means. I'm still working on it.

BUT ROBEY, apparently a very forthright man, seems to think that maybe economists don't always have a 1,000 per cent batting average as prophets, for he said:

Although he's an economist himself, economist can't be "anything like certain in economic predictions."

Then Emerson Schmidt, chief economist for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, stood up at the plate and lined one safely to center:

"I think prices generally will come down but this doesn't mean some prices won't go up."

Next up was Philip Reed, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric corporation:

"The present situation is nothing but a healthy correction. . . We are in a delicate transition period."

All of them, more or less, warned against any general notion about heading toward a depression. That might make things bad, they said.

Kaplan, Robey, Schmidt and Reed all made their appearance, and their diagnosis, before the joint congressional economic committee.

This committee is asking people what they think of Truman's request for power to control the economy a bit if, and when, he thinks it's needed.

High Schools Toss Away Records, Go For Keeps

Tourney Time On Again In Scholastic Ranks; A And B Races Again Are Wide Open

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—(AP)—Ohio's high school basketball season has hit the spot where they throw away the records and start playing for keeps.

It's tournament time, and the "win or get out" series offers a new challenge. Some 1170 teams—about 900 in Class B and the rest in Class A—are involved.

Some of the Class B clubs have been battered out in county tournaments, but the survivors will swing on into sectional-district play. The class A boys don't play county events, but go right into the sectional showdowns.

With the preliminaries out of the way, coaches of the not-too-impressive teams are pointing at previous winners as they explain "we've got a chance." Only two years ago Middletown hit the state tourney finals with six losses on its record, but the mighty Middies waltzed off with the Class A crown.

And back in 1936 Newark's Wildcats, after having won about five games in an 18-game slate, were unbeatle when the chips went down.

Over the years since the big tourney was started in 1919 at Delaware, the overall championship laurels go to southwestern Ohio. If you split the state into four parts with North-South and East-West lines through Columbus, the southwestern sector has all the better of it in titles, if not in the number of schools and the amount of territory.

The southwestern area has copped 18 Class A titles to 10 for the northeast, seven for the southeast, and five for the northwest. In Class B which started play in 1923, the northwest has won eight titles, the southwest and southeast six each. The northeast also has won six, if you put Delaware in that sector along with Upper Arlington, northwest Columbus suburb.

Of the 40 Class A championships decided, Dayton has a stranglehold on more than its share. Stivers of the Gem City won eight, and Steele and Roosevelt one each for a total of 10. No other school has won more than three—Middletown and Newark being tied at that figure in the "modern era" since the state scholastic association took over the tourney. Stivers has won four in that period. Akron North and Dover are the only two-time victors since 1923.

In Class B only two teams have

BLISS WINS OVER TOOLERS, 44-43 IN CLASS A PLAY

Mullins Retains Unbeaten Classification In 34-30 Win Over Saxons

Invincible Mullins continued as the cream of Class A basketball at the Memorial building Monday with a slim margin over the Saxons, while the Bliss and United Tool stole the show for thrills in a battle over the runnerup position.

Actually, by being idle, the VFW clung to second position, but Bliss enhanced its chances of eventual control of second place by edging United 44-43 in a battle that moved the Toolers down to fourth position. Bliss takes over third with a 6-2 mark. The VFW, idle yesterday, opens this week, Committee Chairman Martin "Peanuts" Debnar announced today.

Debnar, who is working with Art Brian and Ralph Phillips in arranging the event, said the distribution of additional tickets will be made at a Boosters meeting at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Ray Kelly paced Mullins with 16 points, Ham Girsch was high for the Saxons with 13. John Pridon's 16 was best for United, Phil Cozad's 16 was tops for Bliss and Leroy Frost led his outfit. Israel had 12 to pace Damascus.

DON BLACK BACK IN FINE HEALTH

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 22—Don Black says he's healthier now than he was last summer.

The Cleveland Indians pitcher vacationing here with his family before joining the World Champions in spring training at Tucson, Ariz., is confident he will make a comeback from the illness which nearly took his life last fall.

There was a weak blood vessel near his brain.

"It could have burst when I was walking down the street, the doctors tell me," Black said.

It did break when he took a cut at the ball while at bat for the Indians last Sept. 13.

He was unconscious five weeks and narrowly missed death.

Black is 10 pounds over his playing weight as he relaxes on the golf beaches, following the instructions of Cleveland President Bill Veeck, who sent him to Florida to regain his health.

He will join the Indians March 1.

Basketball Fete Tickets On Sale; Boosters To Meet

Ticket sale for the Salem Boosters club annual basketball and band banquet, featuring Tippe Dye of Ohio State as the main speaker, opens this week, Committee Chairman Martin "Peanuts" Debnar announced today.

Debnar, who is working with Art Brian and Ralph Phillips in arranging the event, said the distribution of additional tickets will be made at a Boosters meeting at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Palmer Takes Top Place At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 22—(AP)—Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., won the $2,000 jackpot that went with first place in the Houston open golf tournament by the skin of his teeth.

He beat the Memphis golfer, Cary Moddico, one stroke yesterday when the Tennessee pro went one over par on the 17th hole and missed a chance to tie the match on the 18th by inches.

Palmer toured the 6,710-yard, par 72 Pine Forest Country club course in 67 strokes to end with a 71-67-72.

Jim Turnesa, Briar, Cliff, N. Y., followed the two leaders with a 274. Close behind was Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, N. M., at 276. E. J. Harrison of Albuquerque posted a 277 for sixth place and Veteran Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was next with 281.

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., finished eighth in the tournament with a 283 but the $415 prize shot him past Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., as pro golfer's top money winner.

Mangrum now has won $6,170 compared with $5,862.50 for Demaret.

Demaret withdrew after posting a 71-76 for two rounds.

Midloff won $1,400 for second place.

day. President Fritz Richel has called the session to iron out business matters.

The club's recent campaign to raise money for current operations is nearing completion, Homer Haldeman, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported.

A total of $633 has been turned in, Haldeman said Saturday, and the balance, expected to hit about $1,000, will be in by the end of the week. All tickets have been sold.

The basketball banquet has been set for Thursday, March 17, at the Memorial building, when Dye will talk. Tickets are lower this year than last, selling for $2.

Complete arrangements for the banquet will be announced at the Thursday meeting. Dr. George Jones is to serve as toastmaster and music will be furnished by the American Legion "Dutch" band.

Additional arrangements also will be discussed Thursday for the club's projected pre-season track meeting, at which Wiltur J. Springer, former Salem coach and principal, and Harrison Dillard, Olympic track star and his coach, Eddie Finnegan of Baldwin-Wallace college, will speak and show films.

The club financed a trip to Akron for the basketball team yesterday. The varsity and reserve squads, with six Boosters drivers, attended the Akron U.-Duquesne basketball game at Goodyear gym last night.

The team was treated to a meal as a part of the trip. Coach Bob Miller, Ralph Phillips, Cliff Callahan, Fritz Richel, George Reash and Ed Judge contributed the transportation.

Fourteen Indians Still Not Signed

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22—(AP)—The World Champion Cleveland Indians open their spring training camp at Tucson, Ariz., a week from tomorrow, but the club still needs the signed contracts of 14 players.

Twenty-five already are signed, and President Bill Veeck expects the others to come in without "undue trouble."

Chief among those not yet signed are Pitchers Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon, Catcher Jim Hegan, Second Baseman Joe Gordon, and First Baseman Mickey Vernon. Outfielder Hank Edwards said his contract was signed, but "I just haven't sent it back yet."

Veeck, who prides himself in never having had serious holdout problems in his years in baseball at Milwaukee and here, said:

"You always run into a situation after a club wins a World championship. Some of the Boys just naturally try to get just a little more money, and in a way you can't blame them. However, I expect no undue trouble."

The Bliss contest figures to be a scorcher. Ravenna is slated to meet the Browns Thursday evening at Ravenna. A galaxy of former Raven High school and Kent State stars is included on the Harper roster.

St. Louis and Oklahoma Aggies Meet Saturday

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(AP)—Oklahoma A. & M. and St. Louis play a return engagement Saturday night, with second place in the national basketball rankings hanging in the balance.

The Aggies, currently rated No. 3 behind Kentucky and St. Louis, also could wrap up the Missouri valley title with a victory.

The last time the two clubs met the Aggie pulled out a 29-27 victory in overtime at Stillwater. The loss knocked St. Louis from first place in the Associated Press poll.

This time the fray will be in St. Louis' Kiel auditorium.

The St. Louis test isn't the only tough one on the Aggies' schedule this week. On Wednesday night they entertain the University of Oklahoma, at Stillwater. The Sooners roundly whipped the A. and M. outfit two weeks ago.

Elsewhere the conference races go into their final two weeks without a sure-fire champion in sight.

Even Kentucky (22-1) has to go through the formality of winning the Southeastern conference tournament starting March 3.

DEPT. OF INFORMATION

Just for the record, the Cleveland Browns want it known in Salem that they have no illusions that they are great basketball players. They make no claims to basketball fame and want no one to come to see them with the idea that he will see the best in the cage sport.

The Browns recently received some derogatory press notices after an appearance in Youngstown—a game they lost, incidentally—and want no more of the same treatment.

The Browns basketball team, Nate Wallack, its manager and also publicity director for the football team notes, was organized so the fellows could have themselves a little fun, keep in shape to an extent and at the same time pick up a little extra cash during the "off" months.

It's true that some of the Browns who play with the team scheduled to meet the VFW here Wednesday evening, were truly great players in high school and college. Otto Graham, for one, achieved his greatest fame as a basketball player at Northwestern. He won All-American honors two years in basketball.

But that doesn't necessarily mean that the team as a whole is a great club.

Wallack says, "We surely like to win. The fellows go out there with every desire to win and play the game all the way. They feel badly when they lose, too, for they feel they have disappointed the fans. However, they can't win 'em all and certainly not against the calibre of opposition we meet in some of these games."

The Browns realize that a lot of ardent sports fans welcome an opportunity to see the "football names" at the comparative closer range of basketball. Sports fans are great curiosity people, just as the "bobby-soxers" are about a famed movie star.

Hence, the Browns basketball team. The boys will give you a show, but don't expect to see the Waterloo Wonders or an 80 per cent shooting average.

It's all a benefit and the money goes to a good cause. By all means look in Wednesday, but realize before you go what is offered.

SEE PROMPT APPROVAL OF TOLL ROADS

Ohio Turnpike Idea Due For Support In Assembly, Prediction

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—(AP)—Senators said today they expected prompt passage of a bill to give Ohio privately-financed toll super-roads like the Pennsylvania turnpike.

The measure was recommended unanimously by the senate highway committee after the legislature returned last night from its weekend adjournment.

Sen. Ralph A. Winter (R-Medina), co-sponsor of the bill with Sen. William A. Boyd (D-Cuyahoga) said enactment would be especially timely.

"It would permit Ohio to link a turnpike with the Pennsylvania toll road now ready to be extended to our eastern border," he said. "It's the only way we can get these roads. The state can't build them and maintain our present roads properly with the money we have," he explained.

An amendment assures the state it will get the super-highways as soon as their bonds are paid off, Winter added. It prevents use of tolls from profitable turnpikes to help retire bonds of unprofitable roads. The bill provides that turnpikes be "given" to the state for its road system as soon as they are paid for.

Calls Conference

Action on the bill to finance super-highways with private funds followed a call by Gov. Frank J. Lausche for a conference on state revenue policies.

He asked 16 representative Ohioans to meet him tomorrow "to discuss anticipated revenues, especially the sales tax" for this year and next. He did not elaborate.

Schools, cities and virtually all government departments are asking larger state handouts despite the prospect of shrinking returns.

The governor has cautioned the legislature there may be only about $4,000,000 for extra appropriations. Increases sought are a country mile beyond that sum. Sales tax collections last year were about $144,000,000.

Invited to the conference are:

David Sutton of the Ohio Expenditures council; Herschel Atkinson, executive secretary of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce; Gordon McKay, fiscal advisor of the Ohio Association of Municipalities; Michael Disalle, mayor of Toledo and president of the Ohio Association of Municipalities; Frank Hanrahan, Cleveland finance director; O. C. Johnson of New Philadelphia and A. M. Parker of Lebanon, representing the Ohio auditors association; Phil Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Federation of Labor; Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO; Walton Bliss, executive secretary of the Ohio Education association; State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht; State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson; State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander; Finance Director Defenbacher; Mrs. Anna F. O'Neil (D-Summit), chairman of the house taxation committee, and Clingan Jackson (D-Mahoning), chairman of the senate taxation committee.

Concert Singers Late So Audience Holds Songfest

It was a party, more than a concert, Monday evening in the High school auditorium when the Trapp Family Singers arrived almost one hour late to sing for Northern Columbiana County Community Concert association members.

Their bus had broken down in Mansfield at 6 o'clock. After chartering another they got to Salem about 9, where they found their large audience singing and listening to impromptu home-talent entertainment by Preston Snyder and Thomas Crothers.

The wholesome friendliness of the five girls, their mother, two brothers, Donald Meissner, tenor, and their priest-director, Dr. Franz Wanner captivated their audience as much as their singing.

Helps Mold Family

The Trapp family philosophy of life, as expressed by Maria Augustina Trapp, mother, and wife of the late Baron von Trapp, is this: "A family should sing together, play together, pray together, and it will stay together."

They demonstrated how well they could sing together in a program which included selections from the early religious to gay folk songs and yodeling.

Along with the quaintness of their costumes was the unusualness of the recorders, viola da Gamba and Virginal instruments on which

Believe Father, Son Died In Drunken Brawl

MT. VERNON, Feb. 22—(INS)—A 61-year-old man and his 32-year-old son found dead in their Fredricktown, O., home were ruled today to have beaten each other to death in a drunken brawl.

Knox County Coroner C. L. Harmer said that "unless other evidence should turn up" his official verdict would be that Herbert and Harold Stevens killed each other while in an intoxicated condition.

A blood-covered axe handle found in the home was declared by Harmer as a "possible" weapon in the double slaying.

The coroner said he thought it impossible that one of the deaths could have been a suicide and stated that he felt sure no one else was involved.

GRANGES

Gulford
Mr. and Mrs. William Herron and Esther Stoudt were in charge of the program presented for 60 members and one visitor at the Saturday night meeting of Gulford Grange. Esther Stoudt is matron and Mary Arbanitus assistant.

During the lecture hour, Mrs. Myrtle Troutwine gave a talk on national 4-H club week; H. G. Smith showed slide pictures of club activities at Camp Whitewood and the Columbiana county fair; Esther Stoudt gave a report on the club convention at Columbus, and stamps were purchased for the benefit of the state mental hospital.

Libert Barber gave a short talk. All members with birthdays in the first three months of the year will be honored guests at a covered supper after grange meeting on March 5. The committee for grange founders day are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raley, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gamble.

Twenty juvenile members were present.

Mahoning Pomona
Mahoning County Pomona grange will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday in Goshen grange hall.

Ten candidates were obligated in the first and second degrees at last week's session of Goshen grange. Five applications for membership were balloted on and elected.

Pupils of the fifth and sixth grades, Goshen Center school, offered a program of recitations, band and vocal music, under the direction of Miss Edna Rose, teacher.

This entertainment was arranged by the Homer Miskimins and William Miskimins families.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hively were complimented with a post-nuptial miscellaneous shower.

WILLIAM PERRINE

LISBON, Feb. 22—William Perrine, 66, died Monday night in the county home where he had been in inmate for 19 years.

He was born in Pennsylvania on May 10, 1882, and lived in East Liverpool for many years.

Surviving is a brother, Cal Perrine, also an inmate of the county home.

The body has been removed to the Henry funeral home, pending arrangements.

DELAWARE, Feb. 22—The death of Jacob Schaffner, 82, former Delaware county sheriff and probate judge, in Clearwater, Fla., was reported yesterday by friends. Schaffner, who moved to Clearwater last summer, died Saturday.

TRAPSHOOT HELD AT LEETONIA

LEETONIA—Nine hams were the prizes going to shoot winners at the Leetonia Sportsmen's association trap shoot Sunday at the club's Cherry Valley range.

Top marksmen of the day were Tate Burkhardt, Harold Miller, Joe Burkhardt, Dick Shive, A. C. McMasters, John McMasters, Harry Steele, Fred Price and Leland Helt.

Tom Miller, Charles Stelts and O. G. Deffenbaugh were the judges. In charge of the shoot were Dick Shive, Eldon Holt, William Harrold and Donald Harrold.

Coffee and sandwiches were served to the shooters between rounds. The competitors were from Salem, Columbiana, Washingtonville and Leetonia.

Club members are making plans for their next big event - the trip to the Cleveland Sportsmen's show March 19. The sportsmen have chartered a bus.

The Leetonia volunteer fire department answered the second fire call of the year last Thursday when a bad grass fire got started on the E. E. Morgan property on E. Columbia st.

The fire was put under control before it damaged a barn and nearby buildings, according to Chief Francis Morrissey.

Dies On Way for Checkup

AKRON, Feb. 22—City Councilman Kenneth D. Statler, 44, died while driving to City hospital for a physical check-up yesterday. He told friends earlier he did not feel well when he left his office.
